Join us for an introduction to a new recognition program for wastewater utilities across the United States!

The Utility of the Future Recognition Program seeks to promote and recognize utilities that are building on a foundation of excellent management and help small, medium, and large utilities transform their operations over time. The Utility of the Future Activity Areas identified in the application package focus on the key building blocks of this transformation: recovery and new uses of a full range of resources; engagement as a leader in the full water cycle and broader social, economic, and environmental sustainability of the community; transformation of the internal utility culture in support of these innovations; and engagement in the community and formation of partnerships necessary for success when operating outside of the traditional span of control of the utility.

This is a great opportunity for your utility to receive national recognition by leading organizations and your peers. EPA, NACWA, WaterReuse, WEF, and WERF encourage you to apply!

This webinar will include:

- Background information on the Recognition Program's development, collaborating partners, and goals of the program;
- Information about the application process; and
- An opportunity for participant Q & A with Recognition Program partners.
